AROUND THE WORLD

By the Associated Press

Big Problem

Richmond, Va. — Police today worked on a case involving larceny on a grand scale.

F. H. Boatwright reported someone had stolen one metal garage, size 20 by 12 feet.

Snow Cure

Cleveland — Four years ago a truck struck John McGonagle, and hurled him into a pile of snow, injuring a kneecap. After an operation the leg was stiff — permanently he was told.

The other day McGonagle slipped on the ice and again piled up in the snow. But this time he walked away, his game leg functioning normally.

Both Short

Salt Lake City — Motorist Frank Crane, approaching a crossing, saw a train coming and applied his brakes. The car skidded on icy pavement, careened into a pole, overturned in a ditch. Crane sustained several broken ribs, a gashed face.

The train? It stopped 50 feet before reaching the crossing.

Beggar's Choice

Tulsa, Okla — A crew was unloading automobiles at the railroad dock and the other employes were driving them uptown to a motor company.

A man came up and asked "is this car ready?"

"Yep," someone replied.

The man got in and drove off. P. S. — Police are hunting the missing machine.

Noisy Warning

Des Moines, Ia. — Last summer the Bankers Life company originated a "kibitzers' gallery" for the convenience of persons who wished to observe construction of the new home office building here.

Now the company has inserted a display advertisement in the local paper asking the public's forbearance while steel workers assemble the structural steel framework.

"We know you will appreciate that riveting is one of the unfortunate but essential noises of our civilization and we hope you will bear with us during the riveting period," the ad said in part.

Sticks And Stones, Etc.

Moline, Ill. — A police magistrate ruled that making faces at one's neighbors is not disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Julius Blair, who had two neighbors arrested, told the court "ugly and alarming faces made through a window of her home by the defendants made it impossible for her to enjoy her meals.

The magistrate ruled against Mrs. Blair and fined her $5 for contempt because her language in describing the offense did not please the court.

THE STATE OF THE NATION

by Olin Miller

"Uncle Dan" Roper's statement that he resigned from the Cabinet to retire to "private life" is indicative of a growing trend in these hectic times to seek seclusion off the beaten paths. The other day a writer who had been attracted by the fabulous flame that is Hollywood, and whose wings of imagination had been singed thereby through disillusion from a close-up of the synthetic glamour, pasted a picture of Shirley Temple on the windshield of his car and headed out of the cinema city. A friend he happened to meet at a filling station several hours later asked, "Where are you going?"

"Well," he replied, "see that picture on my windshield? I'm going to travel in out-of-the-way places and through small towns until someone looks at that picture and asks, 'Who's that?' And then and there I'm going to settle down for life."

Squire Perkins says: "Bout th' only way a man can git th' last word with a woman is to put it on her tombstone."

Scout Officials To Hear Wyland At Annual Meet

National Director of Education Will Speak at District Meeting February First.

From reports received from local men connected with the Rush district, Rushville will again have a large representation at the Tenth annual meeting of the Whitewater Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, to be held in the Recreation room of the Perfect Circle company at Hagerstown on Wednesday, February 1st at 6:30 p. m. An attendance of between 450 and 500 people from the six counties in the Council, Fayette, Wayne, Randolph, Rush, Union and Franklin, is expected.

Dr. Ray O. Wyland, national director of education and relationships, from the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be the annual meeting speaker. As director of education, Dr. Wyland supervises all leadership training for volunteer and professional Scouters. More than four hundred colleges, universities and theological seminaries are offering coures of Scouting Methods of Education in cooperation with the National Education Service under Dr. Wyland's leadership. Each year upwards of 75,000 volunteer Scout leaders and professional Scout leaders register for training in formal courses under the supervision of the National Educational Service of the Boy Scouts of America.

Dr. Wyland travels thirty to forty thousand miles each year and has visited each state in the union many times. He has spoken to audiences aggregating approximately two million persons, including high school and college gatherings; national, state and local conventions of superintendents, principals and teachers; meeting with the clergy, social workers, civic bodies, service

High Yields With Hybrids May Drain Soil

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 17 (AP) — Spectacular yields of hybrid corn bring an increased drain on soil fertility, a crop specialist warned farmers today.

C. M. Linsley, a soil specialist in the college of agriculture at the University of Illinois, said high-yielding hybrid corn used up minerals in the soil at a much faster rate than did ordinary crops.

"There may be some difference between hybrids in the amount of minerals utilized," he said, "but miracle hybrids that can produce bumper yields without taking anything from the soil are yet to be produced. If such a hybrid should be discovered, it would have little value for feed or commercial use.

"The growing of hybrid corn is justified by the fact that high yields are essential to low production costs. However, it is essential that there be some reduction in acreage and more attention paid to soil fertility and the use of legumes. By growing more corn on fewer acres at less cost, the land taken out of corn can very well be devoted to soil building legume crops."

Linsley estimated that the 361,673,000 bushels of corn produced on Illinois farms in 1938 used the equivalent of 217,000 tons of rock phosphate or 4,340 carloads of 50 tons each. All this was drained directly from the soil. In addition to the phosphorus, he said, even larger amounts of nitrogen, potassium and lime were taken from the soil.

THE WEATHER

INDIANA—Snow in north, snow or rain in south portion tonight and Wednesday, slightly warmer in extreme south portion tonight.

Garden Of Life Is Discussed Before Rotary Club Here

Speaking on "The Garden of Life," the Rev. T. E. Tomerlin, pastor of the Arlington Christian church, addressed the Rushville Rotary club Tuesday noon at the Lollis hotel.

His daughter, Miss Jane Tomerlin, sang two solos, playing her own piano accompaniment, and was heartily applauded.

Frank Abercrombie was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker and Miss Tomerlin.

D. F. Keller of Richmond, Ind., was the only guest present for the weekly luncheon session of the club.

Though Hoosiers may boast of their own localities as the most fertile in the land, the most fertile ground is not the soil but the heart of man, the Rev. Mr. Tomerlin said.

Of the seeds that may be planted in the heart of man, the minister mentioned the seeds of kindness.

"They are rather perennial, but have to be nurtured," he added.

The danger, the speaker said, is that the sense of human need may be dulled. He gave illustrations to disclose how the finer sensibilities have become blunt in the mad race for survival.

He mentioned, also, the seeds of loyalty and devotion. "There are plenty of things to be done if we have a sense of sympathy," the Rev. Mr. Tomerlin asserted.

"The most dangerous enemy of civilization is not the foreign country — Italy, or Germany, or states allied with them — but unemployment. It is destroying American life far more than any invading army. It is eating its insidious principles into the very hearts of the American people," he said.

Subway Nickel Racket Has Obtained Million Dollars

New York, Jan. 17 (AP) — A ring of employes suspected of stealing $1,300,000 — or 26,000,000 nickels — from New York's city-owned subway was rounded up today by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey for questioning.

Dewey said the subway — largest municipally-operated utility in the world — had been systematically looted of approximately three per cent of its gross receipts for five years by a group of 30 station agents and maintenance men.

The district attorney said further investigation might disclose far more than $1,300,000 had been stolen.

Three men — Henry J. Aronstein, 33, and Isadore Kadisow, station agents, and James J. McGovern, 28, a former maintenance man — were under arrest on charges of conspiracy to commit grand larceny and forgery. Twenty more were held for questioning and others were being sought.

A Dewey aide said that one of the men wanted fled the city after having banked $100,000 in the last few years on a petty subway employe's salary. He was quoted as having told another member of the ring:

"I got a hundred grand salted away in safety deposit boxes. I'm getting out of here, and they'll never get me."

The daily take of the nickel chiselers, a spokesman for the district attorney's office said, often reached $1,500 a day.

Investigators said the scheme succeeded only through close and continual collusion between the members of the ring who tapped fortunes at the turnstiles by tampering with the meters registering the number of fares.

It was worked this way, they said:

A dishonest station agent would phone the company that a turnstile was out of order. When the maintenance man arrived — ostensibly to repair it — he would turn back the register-

Legion Announces State-Wide School Oratorical Contest

The Indiana American Legion, in cooperation with the state department of public instruction and the schools, will sponsor a state-wide oratorical contest in March, Joseph F. Lutes, of Indianapolis, state American director of the Legion has announced.

The Hoosier orators will compete in the National Legion oratorical contest for high school pupils ending April 14th in Springfield, Illinois, when four regional winners will take part in the finals.

Major award of the 1939 Legion oratorical contest was posted by Eddie Cantor, noted star of stage, screen and radio. He sent two checks, totalling $4,000 to Homer L. Chaillaux, national Americanism director of the Legion. This sum will be used to defray the cost of a four-year scholarship at some American college or university.

The state department of Public Instruction, of which Floyd I. McMurray of Thorntown, a Legionnaire, is head, has expressed a willingness to cooperate with the Legion in every way

Attorney General Is Asked For An Opinion

The attorney-general of Indiana has been called upon to decide whether an appropriation of $900 for clerical assistance in the county highway supervisor's office was passed by the county council Monday.

By a vote of four to three, the council approved such an appropriation but the question later arose as to whether a two-thirds majority was necessary in such a case.

The matter was then referred to the attorney-general although the action was certified as having been passed by the council.

Plan For Vast Reserve Funds Faces Revision

Recommendations Now Being Made for Liberalizing the Government's Old Age Insurance System.

Washington, Jan. 17 (AP)—Recommendations for liberalizing the government's old age insurance system apparently opened the way today for abandonment of plans to accumulate a vast old age reserve fund.

While the Social Security Board made no specific financing suggestions—leaving those up to Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury—it explained that if its proposals for enlarged and earlier payments of benefits were adopted by congress, "early payments under the system will increase substantially."

This would automatically cut down the amount of Social Security tax revenues available for building up a reserve fund, but would permit accumulation of a comparatively small contingency fund.

Some experts have estimated that the reserve fund contemplated under the present law would amount to about $47,000,000,000 by 1980. The contingency fund possible under the board's proposed changes, it was reliably stated, probably would be $5,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000.

There was no indication as to the attitude of Secretary Morgenthau toward abandoning the big reserve plan. It originally was enacted at his suggestion. Republican critics, especially Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) have charged that he was interested principally in using it as a "cushion" for the growing federal debt.

Since the act became effective in 1937, payroll taxes for old age taxes have produced almost $1,000,000,000 in revenue. Benefit payments do not start until 1942, so the receipts have been available for investment in government bonds.

The board's report was transmitted to congress yesterday by President Roosevelt along with a special message in which he rec-

Former Resident Of Carthage Dies

Word has been received here of the death of Frank H. Young, 81, a native of Carthage, who expired Monday at his home, 3811 Kenwood avenue, Indianapolis.

The deceased was born in Carthage and as a young man was a teacher in Rush county. He was married to Miss Julietta Patten in Morristown in 1885. She preceded him in death. He had retired about a month ago after nearly 60 years in the wholesale lumber business.

Survivors include one son, four daughters, six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Flanner and Buchanan mortuary and burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

County Senior Girls Eligible For Contest

The annual Good Citizenship pilgrimage sponsored by Rushville chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, will be conducted in the high schools of Rush county again this year. Letters containing this information have been mailed by the local chairman, Mrs. Charles H. Brown.

This contest is open to senior girls of the county high school and one girl from each school is chosen by popular vote of her class. These girls fill out a questionnaire presented by the chapter and the best one is entered in the state contest. The state winner is given a trip to Washington, D. C., with all expenses paid and the visit will be during the Continental congress in April.

Minor Collision On State Road Reported

No one was injured in a minor collision on state road 3 about four miles north of Rushville Monday.

An automobile driven by Fred Krug of near Mays, a truck operated by Osborn Johnson of Jabez, Ky., and a farm wagon were going south. Krug was driving around the truck when the latter suddenly swerved, according to a report made at the sheriff's office.

Krug then skidded into the wagon and both his car and the wagon were slightly damaged.

Conservation Club Committees Named

Committees on Rush county Conservation club projects were appointed Monday night by Judge William F. Marshall, president, at a meeting of the organization in the circuit court room.

The committee to take care of the operation and maintenance of the club's fish ponds was named as Fred Bell, Blanchard Ketchem, Larry Clark, Earl Addison and Howard Ewbank.

The field trials committee was appointed as Ot Lane, Verne Plummer and Dr. Frank Green, Jr.

Cliff Smiley was named chairman of the club's new crow shooting project, and he said that any one desiring to join a crow shooting group should report at the Arcade pool room any night.

Prizes are given by the State Conservation department to the county Conservation club sending in the largest number of crow's feet each month during January, February, March, April and May. Each club is also given one game bird for a certain number of these feet.

The state department is encouraging crow shoots because crows are predatory birds.

Every township except Center was represented at Monday night's meeting.

Next session of the Conservation club will be a banquet meeting at Wilhelm's cafe on February 13. Persons desiring to attend are asked to notify Morris Howell, secretary, in order that reservations may be made.

Four Radio Stars Summoned For Benny's Trial

New York, Jan. 17 (AP)—Four of the nation's best known radio stars have been subpoenaed by the government to testify at the smuggling trial of Jack Benny, movie and air comedian, set for a week from today.

The witnesses include George Burns and Gracie Allen, Jack Pearl, comedian, and Kenny Baker, a singer of the Benny program.

Burns already has pleaded guilty to smuggling jewelry—the charge facing Benny—and Albert N. Chaperau, co-defendant with each, has admitted his guilt in both cases.

Chaperau, who posed as a commercial attache of the Nicaraguan government to gain diplomatic immunity, also has pleaded guilty to conspiring with Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of a New York judge, to smuggle in Parisian finery.

Mrs. Lauer pleaded guilty, leaving Benny the only person thus far indicted to face trial. Benny denied the charge and turned over jewelry valued at $2,131 which federal authorities said had been brought into the country illegally by Chaperau.

As the grand jury continued its investigation of Chaperau's activities, Assistant U. S. Attorney Joseph L. Delaney disclosed 15 more subpoenaes for business and social notables had been issued.

He said that among them were several Manhattan debutantes. They will testify before the grand jury.

Their names were obtained

Townsend Plan Advocates Jam State's Capitol

Yells Ring Through House of Representatives as National Organizer Speaks Today.

Indianapolis, Jan. 17 (AP)—Advocates of the Townsend old age pension plan jammed the corridors and galleries of the Indiana House of Representatives today and made the chamber ring with yells and shouts as Charles A. Mitchell of Greenfield, a national organizer, gave a 15-minute exposition of the plan.

Wild cheers rang out at Mitchell, who twice served as reading clerk in the house, asserted "we've come to the point where there's no mincing words, it's either evolution or revolution."

The Townsend plan proponents who came from throughout the state, trooped into the house early and when the session convened Speaker James M. Knapp announced time would be allotted a speaker for the organization.

From the crowd came frequent bursts of applause as leaders of the organization entered the chamber and Speaker Knapp twice warned against demonstrations that interrupted the business of the house.

After completion of preliminaries the speaker turned the rostrum over to Mitchell.

The senate completed action on its first bill of the session, aside from the measure appropriating for the expense of the assembly, this bill, introduced by Sen. Charles H. Bedwell (D-Sullivan) would permit the filing of a suit against a non-resident commercial vehicle operator in any county of the senate. It was passed 45 to 0 and now goes to the house.

Thurman A. Gottschalk, chief administrative officer of the department of public welfare, filed with the house clerk today a report called for by that body on the awarding of contracts on projects included in the state building program approved at a special session of the legislature last summer.

Republican house members had charged contracts were being awarded to out-of-state contractors.

Gottschalk said that under WPA regulations bidding on the projects could not be limited to Indiana contractors. The building program is being financed in part with PWA funds. Gott-

Local Farm Loan Group Will Meet

The Stockholders of the Rush County National Farm Loan Association will observe their Twentieth annual meeting Friday at the American Legion hall. The officers of the local association have arranged an entertaining and instructive program beginning at 10:30 a. m.

Noon luncheon will be served by the women's auxiliary of the American Legion in the main dining room. Following the luncheon M. S. Kennedy, Jr., who is vice president and secretary of the Federal Land Bank of Louisville will deliver an address. The local association arranged the date in order that they could have Mr. Kennedy to address the stockholders in this meeting. Mr. Kennedy is said to be an able speaker and has grown up with the organization.

The Rush County National Farm Loan Association is one of the oldest co-operatives in the county and probably is the largest. It has enjoyed a steady, substantial growth in the past twenty years and has never had any serious financial difficulty. It has an authorized capital of $100,000.00 of which $83,980.00 is owned by the 402 members. The meeting has previously been held in the assembly room of the court house. The entire meeting will be at the Legion hall, however, on Friday.

Seymour Meets Lions Here Wednesday; County Tourney Opens Thursday Night

Downstate Team Boasts Good Record; Ten County Clubs To Battle For Annual Net Title

Memorial Gym Will Be Scene Of Basketball Games On Four Straight Nights This Week

With basketball on tap four straight nights at Memorial gymnasium this week, it is likely that even the most ardent net fan will get enough of his favorite sport.

The strong Seymour team will meet Rushville's Lions at the local goal house Wednesday night and the annual ten-team Rush county tournament will hold sway for the next three evenings.

Wednesday night's tilt will mark the last encounter for the Hinshawmen until January 27 when they will meet Shortridge here.

Seymour will bring a formidable aggregation to this city. Among the achievements of Coach Bud Surface's Owls is a 29-16 victory over Greensburg.

Because of examinations and other end-of-semester activities, the Rushville-Seymour games Wednesday night will start at 6:30 and 7:45, local school officials announced.

Other teams to fall before the Owls include Columbus, Scottsburg, Bedford, New Albany and Cathedral. Seymour has dropped an overtime game to Franklin, a one-pointer at Mitchell and a two-pointer at North Vernon.

The Owls are big and have in the veteran Guinnup one of southern Indiana's foremost hardwood stars.

Coach Bob Hinshaw reported that most of his Lions are in good shape but that Sammie Young, high-scoring center, will miss his third straight game. Young, recuperating from a severe cold, worked out a little at the gym Monday night but will not be able to play against Seymour. The big sophomore lost eight pounds during his illness.

Clab Robinson and Ike Lyons will officiate the Lion-Owl game, and second teams of the two schools will meet in the curtain-raiser.

After the Seymour clash, Memorial gym will be devoted to the county net meet which will open Thursday night.

Three tourney games will be played on that evening and also on Friday night. On Saturday afternoon will come the two semi-final battles with the titular engagement that night.

There will be no daytime tournament games except for the two semi-final bouts.

A wide-open tourney is being predicted on every hand with no one team standing out particularly over its rivals.

Raleigh, heading the county standing with eight wins out of nine starts, is slated to be one of the strong contenders but dopesters give the Sir Walters no edge over several of the other clubs.

Milroy, after winning six in a row, dropped its next three by very close scores and then started clicking again to easily win its next two and to stamp the Cardinals as a powerful outfit.

New Salem's Eagles, defending champions, also boast a good record and will be further strengthened by the reputation of always being a strong tourney team.

Morton Memorial and Arlington are doubtless the most improved clubs in the county and now rate right up with the rest of the stronger teams. Morton, with a new bunch of boys, started slowly but has gained momentum rapidly. Arlington lost a few games when some of the Wildcat regulars were benched almost a month for disciplinary measures but the Posey township crew is going nicely now. Fritz Patterson, a member of the Rushville squad early in the season, is with the Arlington team.

Carthage, Mays and Manilla form the usual "dark horse" group but Ging and Glenwood, both three-year schools, apparently have little chance of surviving the first round of play.

County tourney officials will be John Walker of Muncie and Charles Kilgore of Fairmount.

The local freshmen blanked the host yearlings in the last half to mark up a 28-7 triumph after holding a 16-7 advantage at the midway point.

An even easier time was enjoyed by the Rushville junior high netters who crushed the Greenfield juniors, 26 to 4. Summaries of the two games follow:

New Castle Net Scribe Gives Version Of Lion-Trojan Tilt

(New Castle Courier-Times)

Capt. Ernie Tidrow, Trojan guard, gave his mates a tip on how to win basketball games Saturday night—the tip resulting in a bucket which decided the Rushville-New Castle meeting in favor of the Greenclads 34 to 32.

With but seconds remaining in the contest on the Lions' floor and the scoreboard nicely balanced at 32-all, Ernie stood squarely underneath and after several bat-in tries by practically everyone in the tilt, hit his game-winner.

The win was the fourth in as many Trojan starts against a member of the South Central conference this season, Connersville, Greensburg and Shelbyville having been previous victims. Also, the affair was the Allenmen's ninth triumph in 15 clashes.

But neither New Castle nor Rushville could lay claim to a first class performance, the Trojans folding up with alarming inconsistency after a first half rush and the Lions also presenting a rather disorganized attack in the earlier stages.

New Castle lost Marshall Koontz, center, on personal fouls in the second period and Warren Lewis also was forced out in the same frame with an ankle injury. Cobby Hinshaw's cagers were without the services of high-scoring Sammy Young, sophomore pivotman, who is ill, and Hartwell was waved to the showers on fouls.

Even Nate Kauffman and Tommy Baker, officials, seemed to catch the spirit of the off-night attitude of both teams and whistled numerous decisions freely criticized by fans and coaches alike.

Hartwell Of Rushville Moves Up Into Parade's 2nd Place

With last week's four leaders inactive, some new faces bob up in the current Rush county basketball scoring parade.

Although illness kept him out of Rushville's last two games, Sammie Young still holds the county scoring lead with 102 points.

By counting 27 points over the week end, Cliff Hartwell, veteran Rushville forward, bounded up to second place with a total of 91 points and is second only to his team-mate, Young.

Last week's other leaders, Mock and Angle of New Salem and Ging of Raleigh, were also idle because their teams did not play and Angle and Ging were displaced in the point-getting race by Stephens of Carthage.

Rushville boys still hold an advantage over the rest of the local netters because the Lions have played more games but this week's county tournament will give the lads on the other teams an opportunity to increase their scoring records.

Players who have counted 30 or more points this season follow:

INDIANA U. NETTERS DEFEAT PURDUE, 39-36

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 16 — Paced by Captain Ernie Andres, Indiana defeated Purdue, 39-36, in a Western Conference basketball game here tonight.

Indiana led most of the game but the Boilermakers put on a threatening rally in the last half and went ahead momentarily 31-30. Coach McCracken's men, however, quickly overcame the advantage. At half-time, Indiana was ahead, 19-14.

Andres hit seven times from the field to lead the Indiana attack.

Strikes and Spares

In a struggle featured by extremely low scoring the Pikes took the Millers for two best in three last night. New pins that refused to fall unless knocked down offered some alibi for missing strikes, but not for missing one-pin and two-pin spares.

For the Pikes, Horace Pearsey had 528 from 133 in the first game, Wedeking had 119 in the second, Kirk hit 505 from 150 and Trennepohl gathered 122 in his first effort. For Millers Hale Pearsey was high with 459 from 133 in his final game, Father Schaub garnered 123 in his middle game, Conroy had 136 in his initial effort and Bates 141 while Capt. Philip Miller featured with a total of 399 from a pair of 125's.

Tonight the Teachers and the D-X Oilers will try their luck against the new maples. Last night's scores:

G. WASHINGTON WAS GOOD AD COPY WRITER

Harlingen, Tex., (AP) — A copy of the first issue of the Maryland Journal dated August 20, 1773, indicates George Washington could give a good sales talk.

Washington was the principal advertiser in the issue and had some "choice lands" for sale.

The advertisement, which was signed by him, emphasized the lands had a very desirable location on the Ohio or Kanhawa rivers and were such that "none can exceed them in luxuriance of soil."

He also pointed out that if ever a government was established on the Ohio the value of the land would increase.

PETTY THIEVERY.

Crawfordsville, Ind. (AP)—Police are hunting a "kiss thief" here. A 17-year-old girl reported a young man seized her, kissed her several times, and then fled.

SUBWAY NICKEL RACKET HAS OBTAINED MILLIONS

ing device so that the turnstile recorded fewer than the actual number of nickels deposited. Station agents altered their records to conform, pocketed the excess fares and later split with the maintenance man.

The thefts were bared by two subway company detectives, John E. Cody and Cornelius Callahan, after a three-year investigation. They reported the ring had tried to bribe them with a share of the stolen nickels.

Dewey's office expressed amazement that such wholesale thefts of city funds could have occurred without being reported to the police or district attorney.

The board of transportation had treated the case as a departmental matter until Dewey heard of it and began his own inquiry.

Warts don't matter much if they don't show.

CONNERSVILLE MEN IN TRESPASS CASE

A trial was conducted in Justice Walter Peters' court Tuesday in the case of two Connersville men who are charged with trespass.

The defendants, who were freed under bond, are Melvin Thumb and Robert Weise and the case involves some trouble which occurred at the home of Henry Harness in Glenwood. Weise also faces a charge of assault and battery on Mrs. Harness.

Justice Peters, who is hearing the case without a jury, is conducting the trial in the assembly room.

Charles Gettinger of Connersville paid a fine of $1 and costs Monday evening when he pleaded guilty in Justice Peters' court to a charge of driving at excessive speed on U. S. Highway 52 at the west edge of Rushville. Gettinger was arrested by state police.

PLAN FOR VAST RESERVE FUNDS FACES REVISION

ommended that benefits of the act be extended to "all our people" as rapidly as "administrative experience and public understanding" would permit.

Vandenberg, commenting on the message, said it "ignores the fundamental task of perfecting the system as it is before we undertake any extension."

He advocated that the Social Security taxes be frozen at the present level of 1 per cent each on employer and employe payrolls.

The first increase of one half of one per cent is scheduled to go into effect next January. The tax is graduated upward to 3 per cent each on employers and employes in 1949.

The report argued that the present tax system would produce only enough revenue to meet the total cost of increased benefits and "also probably provide a small reserve which would be invested and earn some interest."

REBEL TROOPS PREPARING TO DRIVE FURTHER

Hendaye, France (At the Spanish frontier) Jan. 16 (AP)—Jubilant insurgent army columns installed themselves in positions east of strategic Tarragona today for a new attack against a secret defense line barring their way to Barcelona and the possible end of the Spanish civil war.

The capture yesterday of Tarragona, second city of Catalonia, put insurgent advance guards within 56 miles along the Mediterranean coast from the government capital and within 37 miles of Barcelona along the interior front.

Reports reaching the frontier said insurgent field commanders know there is a second government defense line between Tarragona and Barcelona, although they lack exact information about its precise location and strength.

The Barcelona administration indicated its confidence in the defenses by announcing that its militiamen had withdrawn from Tarragona to "prepared positions situated east of the Valls-Tarragona line." Military observers calculated that the line probably would be located in mountainous areas between Vendrell and Igualada.

The almost unhindered advance of Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's columns into ancient Tarragona followed three days of consistent gains in the Catalonian campaign that started Dec. 23.

Insurgent reports said the main attacking corps of Navarrese soldiers fought its way through the government's rear guard to the gates of the provincial capital. After reaching that position, the column swung eastward to the Gaya river about three and half miles distant and then began a slow march back west.

The shock troops were astonished, these reports declared, when they did not encounter any resistance and were forced to concern themselves principally in turning back a long stream of refugees fleeing the supposed battle zone.

Insurgent headquarters announced that revised figures of the Catalonian campaign showed they had taken control of 2,789.5 square miles of territory since the drive toward Barcelona began.

Although they did not name them all, insurgent statisticians asserted 82 villages were captured yesterday while the Tarragona advance was going on. Previously they had set the total at 163 villages since the start of the campaign.

Many of the occupations came in the central sector directly east of Lerida where the insurgent front line was inside Barcelona province near Bellprat about 37 miles from Barcelona. The line runs south along the west bank of the Gaya river, including the occupied villages of Vilabella and Catallar, to the river's mouth at Tamarit, the last point of the insurgent drive on the coast.

FRANKLIN.

Two hundred and thirty-three years ago today Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston, a poor boy whose start in life included neither wealth nor formal education. When he died at the ripe age of eighty-four his name was enshrined in history as co-founder of a great nation, scientist, founder of the first public library, founder of a college, printer, publisher, statesman, diplomat, and a man of letters.

Few Americans have had as varied or distinguished a career as that of Benjamin Franklin or contributed as much to the advancement of civilization. His birthday deserves to be universally celebrated as that of one of the nation's greatest men.

WAR IN THE SPRING?

Among the skeptical there may be a feeling that the testimony of Ambassadors Kennedy and Bullitt at a secret meeting of the Senate and House Military Affairs Committee may have been designed to lend support to the Administration's defense program. Unfortunately, the opinions they expressed, frightening in the extreme, are those held quite commonly in informed quarters abroad.

Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Bullitt told the members of the two committees that there is almost certain to be a new crisis and possibly war in the Spring. It will be caused, according to the most authoritative information that can be gathered, by a German movement toward the fertile plains of the Ukraine in Central Europe or by an Italian blow at Tunisia or some other French property in the Mediterranean. Or perhaps these two operations may be timed simultaneously, a bit of strategy which would throw the entire continent of Europe into war.

It is no longer possible to escape the conclusion that every instinct of the dictators is warlike, that they are restless, ambitious and insatiable. They can be appeased but only for the moment, until a new urge arouses them and impels them on to the achievement of a new objective. There is a great deal in the present and in the past to support the fear of a new crisis in the Spring.

The prospect is one to give us concern, even though we are separated from the whole disheartening business by three thousand miles of ocean. Our job is to stay out of it and this purpose can be accomplished through two means. One is diplomatic discretion and the other is a degree of military strength which will make it perilous to risk our wrath.

SCIENCE SHOULD KNOW

Score another victory for science.

The British Government recently planned to spend more than $100,000,000 on back-yard "mail order" bomb-proof shelters when hoots of derision from a group of scientists halted the program's progress.

The shelters, according to the scientific committee, if placed against walls, as would be necessary in crowded areas, would be buried under debris from air raids, thus rendered useless.

It is in vital matters like this concerning national welfare and protection that the opinions of scientific experts should first be sought, thereby preventing costly or tragic mistakes by well-meaning but uninformed laymen.

And to further prove that the British men of science were not devoid of constructive suggestions, the protesting group urged the furtherance of "a really effective scheme of communal bomb-proof cellars, which, together with evacuation, can give a high degree of protection to our civil population" in the event of war.

PURCHASING AGENT

Who does the buying for the Great American Home? Twenty-nine million housewives do 85 per cent of it.

This raises the question whether the household budget is better directed now than in the old days when wives and mothers were protected from the snares and pitfalls of commerce. And who is better prepared to answer it than the corporations which lend money to balance the family budget?

One such corporation doing business in many communities finds that the husband who turns over his pay check and leaves buying and paying of bills to his wife is freer from debt worries, gets into fewer financial jams and is more prosperous than other men.

How are these conclusions to be reconciled with woman's traditional reputation of extravagance? This the finance company also answers. The wife who is kept in ignorance of the family's financial condition has brought this calumny upon her sex through no fault of her own. To spend and spend and spend is human.

Household management is too big a job for the man who is away all day to perform efficiently in his leisure hours. The average housewife enters into more financial transactions in a day than her grandfather did in his small business.

A Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington —The Bureau of Indian affairs only now is discovering what happens when an irresistible force meets the Navajo reservation.

Of all the tough pieces of Indian diet that the bureau has to bite off, the Navajo problem is one of the primest.

It must be kept in mind that the Navajos are a peculiar people. They don't move around much. At one time they were a wandering people but since the Spanish conquest they have been content to live a sort of sequestered life on the deserts of Northern New Mexico. They have about 16,000,000 acres of land assigned to them but it is desert land providing scant fare even for the hungriest of sheep.

And more serious still, it is steadily being spoiled by erosion. Further, the Navajo population is increasing. Sixty years ago when they took on reservation life, there were perhaps 9,000 Navajos, as the Indian Bureau records indicate. Now there are 50,000 and Ethnologists predict that within the next generation or so the number will be double or even quadruple that.

Election Trouble

But those are only major long time problems which will trouble future generations. More immediate problems are concerned with winning elections.

It was a year or more ago that the Indian Bureau campaigned through the reservation in favor of the Indian reorganization bill. The bureau looked upon it as a godsend to the Indians, since it offered them increased self government, further allotments of government cash, and other little benefactions.

On the Navajo reservation about 97 per cent of the population do not speak or write English and there are no adequate Indian phrases for explaining the reorganization bill. It was decided that Indians wanting to accept the reorganization act could sign with a cross and those opposing it could sign the ballot with a circle. But that was the end of the reorganization act.

Opponents of the measure, who looked upon it with suspicion regardless of its promised benefits, campaigned among the Indians. They didn't discuss the Indian bill. They discussed what a horrible thing it would be for the Indians to have anything to do with a cross. That is what the white men use to mark graves, the opposition leaders argued. They even have it on their churches. On the other hand, went the argument, the circle is the symbol of completion, of the full life, of the rightness of things.

Too Many Circles

And when election day came around there were more circles than crosses so the reorganization plan was defeated.

But that was not all. The bureau officials desired that new members of the Indian council to be elected should be at least open minded on the question of soil conservation. After all, the Navajo reservation is being rapidly washed away, even though there is scarcely a single year-round stream on it.

But again came the trouble of the ballots. The Indians could not read. So the scheme was hit upon of having each candidate identified with a certain color. Philip Blue-Goose, friendly to the bureau plans, would be represented by a blue slip of paper at the ballot box. Other favorable candidates would be green, yellow or gray.

On the other hand, opposition candidates would be represented by other colors, such as red or purple. What happened?

Merits of the candidates were overlooked. Instead the Indians considered special merits of red (opposition) as distinguished from blue. By tough luck, all the favorite Indian colors were awarded to opposition candidates and the bureau candidates were defeated.

PRINCESS — "Secrets of a Nurse" with Edmund Lowe, Helen Mack and Dick Foran.

Revealing Drama In "Secrets of a Nurse"

A dramatic film version of the magazine story by Quentin Reynolds, "Secrets of a Nurse," with Edmund Lowe, Helen Mack and Dick Foran, is showing at the Princess theatre today.

The topical story dwells upon the fine distinction between ethical or non-ethical revelations a professional trained nurse may or may not divulge.

Lowe is cast as a wealthy criminal attorney who sacrifices romance and his reputation as an invincible courtroom strategist when he defends his young rival on an open-and-shut murder charge.

Foran and Miss Mack complete an unusual love triangle as a young prize fighter and a beautiful nurse, who, because of her profession, sees much, hears much but fears to speak. Action begins when Foran, "doped" and badly battered in a bout, is miraculously brought through a fight for his life by the nurse.

Later the stage is set for a court drama when Foran is framed on a murder charge and the lawyer is induced by the girl to defend the boxer in the face of conclusive circumstantial evidence.

Paul Hurst, David Oliver, Samuel S. Hinds, Leon Ames, Frances Robinson, Dorothy Arnold, Stanley Hughes and Clarence Muse are in the cast. Arthur Lubin directed and Burt Kelly was associate producer.

Tom Lennon wrote the screen play from the original story by Reynolds, magazine fiction writer and popular sports editor of Collier's Weekly.

Tax Exemption Plans Snagged In Committee

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—State officials offered opposition today to enactment of a federal statute abolishing tax exemptions on government securities.

A special senate committee will begin hearings on the subject tomorrow with testimony from treasury and justice department officials.

John W. Hanes, undersecretary of the treasury, will present a statement on the economic advisability of taxing government securities and James W. Morris, assistant attorney general, will discuss legal problems.

In February witnesses from state and other organizations opposing the proposal will be given a week to testify.

Secretary Austin J. Tobin, of the conference on state defense, an organization of state attorneys general, has said the conference favors submission of a constitutional amendment on the question of taxing the income from future issues of securities of states and sub-divisions.

(Lawyers are divided in their opinion as to whether a constitutional amendment is needed, or whether a congressional statute would suffice. President Roosevelt asked congress last year to enact such a law.)

Treasury officials estimated last June 30 that approximately $65,000,000,000 then was outstanding in securities either wholly or partly tax exempt. Of this amount, about $50,000,000,000 was held by sources other than the federal government and its agencies.

The senate committee has been informed that about $1,000,000,000 in new securities is being issued annually in the tax-exempt or partly tax-exempt class.

In addition to this reservoir of possible federal tax revenue, the committee is studying the possibility of taxing salaries of employes of state and local governments.

TALKING TO MAMA-IN-LAW IS TICKLISH BUSINESS

Chicago (AP) — A man may talk to his mother-in-law only through the walls of her hut in Portuguese West Africa.

This is one of the facts gathered by an expedition of the Field Museum, Chicago, which was studying Ovimbundu tribal customs.

The mother-in-law is very important to the Ovimbundu husband. Preliminary to proposing marriage to her daughter he has to give the prospective mother-in-law some tobacco and a pig, blanket or bottle of wine.

After marriage he must never enter her hut. If the two meet in the open they must turn their heads in opposite directions and pass without speaking. This signifies profound respect for the mother-in-law.

YOUNG MAN SLAYS GIRL WITH HATCHET

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 16 (AP)—Eight hours after the battered and partially nude body of 16-year-old Ruth Scott was found tied to her blood-stained bed today, a Milwaukee man arrested at Racine signed a confession that he slew her with a hatchet during an attempted burglary.

Sheriff Miles Hulett of Racine county announced Ernest John Mahr, 24, dictated the confession after his arrest by two deputy sheriffs who had stopped every automobile proceeding southward since an alarm was broadcast.

The youth had hitch-hiked a ride with a truck driver, who was not held.

The slain girl's widowed mother, Mrs. James Scott, 57, who was slashed during a battle with the intruder, was reported in poor condition at a Milwaukee hospital.

Milwaukee detectives left immediately for Racine to return Mahr.

A friend in Mexico gave the bird to Miss Peters in 1893 when it was three months old.

A measles epidemic is sweeping the Webb school and one-half of the students of the school were out today on account of the sickness. Of the 99 pupils enrolled in the school, 49 were absent this morning when school convened.

Cash prizes aggregating close to $100 will be given at the joint institute and corn show of Noble and Richland townships, to be held at the New Salem school building, Saturday, January 26, according to the announcement of the program made today.

Lakehurst, N. J. — Another terrible disaster of the air was averted today when the giant United States naval dirigible Shenandoah with 22 officers and men aboard, was torn from her mooring mast and swept into the night by a seventy-mile gale, beat her way back against the storm and was nosed into her hangar at 3:53 a. m.

Miss Pearl Leach of Terre Haute, Ind., is visiting with friends and relatives in this city.

Miss Irene Adams was hostess Wednesday evening to the members of the W. W. T. class of the First Baptist church.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
January 18, 1909

The first accident of the sleighing season occurred yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Will Havens, Miss Lavina Harves and Miss Anna Merrill were thrown from a sleigh at the corner of Morgan and Fourth streets. As they were turning the corner, the horse became frightened, upset the sleigh, throwing its occupants against the curbstone, and ran up the street, finally breaking away from the sleigh before it was caught.

Homer Havens, the grocer, fell on the stone steps at St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday afternoon and is now under the care of a physician. The ligaments in his back were torn loose and his ribs were injured.

Mrs. Ethel Horrall and little son, Stanley, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nite Roth in Shelbyville Saturday and Sunday.

Col. Robertson was the guest of Miss Nelle Bigham yesterday in East Seventh street.

The members of the city high school will commemorate the hundredth birthday anniversary of Edgar Allen Poe tomorrow morning in the Graham school building with a short program.

LIE DETECTORS USED TO DECIDE ON NEW CAREERS

By the AP Feature Service

Cleveland — Cleveland college has added to its faculty a mechanical counselor—a lie detector that has nothing to do with crime.

The counselor's job: to explore student minds and ascertain what is behind the collegian's problems.

"Some students say they want to be lawyers because their fathers say so," observed Dr. Jay Otis, vocational guidance director. "The detector indicates the student's real attitude and puts everyone on the right track."

Some glamour-minded co-eds who insist they want to be private secretaries to big-business men agree, after a session with the detector, that they really would prefer school teaching.

"Answers colored by obvious changes in blood pressure, breathing, muscular tremors and skin reflexes, as recorded on the machine, are unquestionably indicative of emotional tension, although verbally the subject may successfully disguise his feelings," Dr. Crawley said in explaining operation of the detector.

Taking of the tests is entirely coluntary, and the college calls the apparatus not a "lie detector" but a "behavior research photopolygraph."

70-YEAR-OLD WOMAN CAPTURES BURGLAR

Birmingham, England — A woman of 70 who struggled with an intruder while her son went for help was commended at the inquest into the burglar's death. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case of William G. Hart, 36, who died from tetanus when shot in the leg by her son.

Mrs. Harriet Winmill testified Hart struck her three or four times on the top of her head with a poker and she broke her walking stick on him. Her son came to her help and was hit over the face while the intruder held the elderly lady by the throat.

"There was blood streaming down my son's face, and I shouted, 'Shoot, Jack, or he'll do us both in.' Then I heard the shot." Mrs. Winmill said her son then went for help while she held down Hart.

HISTORY

Kokomo, Ind., (AP) — People of Kokomo and vicinity are interested in the history of the community. The exhibit contains articles relating to the early history of the county and the community before the county was organized.

A bumper rice crop of 3,312,000 bags was shipped from Port Houston, Texas, wharves in 1938. Officials estimate the crop was worth $500,000 to rice farmers of the Gulf coast.

Following the congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for their newly furnished home at 17 South Franklin street, Knightstown. Mrs. Anderson is employed by the J. K. Kennedy Motor company at Knightstown and Mr. Anderson is working at the Chrysler plant in New Castle.

Coed Named Editor At DePauw

Greencastle, Ind—Dainty, red-haired Betty Parker smashed all of DePauw University's journalistic traditions when she was elected editor-in-chief of "The DePauw", student newspaper. She is the first coed ever to hold this post. Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, has always boasted that "the editor of The DePauw is always a brother" — but next semester the fraternity must look for some other distinction. The trend to coed-editors was started last year when Jean Woods of Evansville was elected editor of the college yearbook — and became the first coed to hold that position.

Miss Parker is a senior, president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic sorority; past president of The Chicago Club, member of Mortar Board and Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and was one of three city editors during the current semester after serving as society editor on the paper.

MOTORISTS PAY HALF MILLION YEARLY TO BE TOLD GASOLINE WILL EXPLODE

Repeal of an obsolete law, state oil inspection, dating back to April 11, 1881, and costing Hoosier motorists about a half a million a year is sought by the Hoosier Motor Club, Todd Stoops, secretary-manager of the Hoosier Motor Club said today.

"The club has sought the repeal of this law for more than twenty years," said Mr. Stoops, "but in spite of this fact the law was worked over and remodeled by the General Assembly of 1937.

"During the kerosene lamp days it was deemed wise and expedient to test illuminating oil for its explosive qualities, and it might be well to continue to test illuminaing oil to see if it will explode, but why test gasoline?

"Gasoline must explode to be of any use in an automobile and since the motor car has been in common use for more than thirty years everyone is aware of the fact that gasoline is dangerous under certain conditions. From 1881 until the automobile was invented, or about 1900, very little was known about gasoline and its inspection was of some importance.

"Now, however, it seems a useless gesture to hire men at the expense of the motorist to test gasoline for its explosive qualities.

"The state charges various rates for testing gasoline but the lowest rate is four cents for every fifty gallons. Indiana motorists use more than 500,000,000 gallons of gasoline a year so the charge against the motorist for testing his motor fuel is over $400,000 a year. For the year ended June 30, 1937 the oil inspection department collected $525,367.20.

"The cost of operating the oil inspection department is about $100,000 a year and about $300,000 is returned to the general fund. This is just another instance of a multiple tax on the motorist to provide funds to reduce the general tax levy."

TOWNSEND PLAN ADVOCATES JAM STATE CAPITOL

Indianapolis, Jan. 17 (AP) — Indiana's senate took up today a bill for recounts in election of state officers with indications it may be the first of a long list of election reform measures to come to a final vote.

Both major parties have pushed their own election bills since the 81st biennial general assembly met Jan. 5. Democrats rule the senate, 34 to 16, and Republicans the house, 51 to 49.

The first investigation of the session got under way as a senate committee headed by O. Bruce Lane (R-Bainbridge) called Floyd I. McMurray, Democratic state superintendent of public instruction, for questioning on schoolbook adoptions.

The senate held two Democratic election bills — that for recounts and another for central counting of primary election ballots — on second reading. It made the former a special order of business for today and the latter for tomorrow. Both bills must pass two more readings to become law.

Six other election bills were introduced in the house under sponsorship of the Republican party. Altogether, the house received 36 new bills and the senate eight.

One G. O. P. bill would provide that any candidate for any office might get a recount in any precinct where he suspected the election returns were unfair.

Indiana's supreme court last fall refused Republicans a recount in seven counties of votes for senator and 11 state offices, ruling there was no such procedure in law.

Another of the bills was for central counting of primary ballots. Ninety-two Marion county precinct workers were indicted on election fraud charges after last May's primary, but the charges have been thrown out of court.

Other bills had to do with registration, absentee voting, precinct election board personnel and affidavits of illiterate voters.

The house, acting on another partisan issue, advanced to second reading, 51 to 47, a bill to have the attorney general elected instead of appointed. The Republican majority on judiciary A committee had recommended passage while the Democrats recommended indefinite postponement.

SLOW JOURNEY

Logansport, Ind. (AP) — On Feb. 26, 1936, John Schrader put a newspaper clipping in a bottle and threw the bottle into the Wabash river here.

Last Dec. 31, 1938, R. W. Baker of Lafayette found the bottle 45 miles downstream near Battle Ground.

He wrote Schrader that the clipping, about the drowning of a Logansport woman in a flood, was still legible.
